How to explain your work

start with a real work episode, the task, your actions and something you can show.

Timofey Chebaturkin

---

the complete guide and its worksheet are available in Russian. this page introduces what you will find there.

From an episode to a clear description choose one situation you remember and can verify. describe who needed the work, what they needed to do, how you helped and what evidence you are allowed to share. use those facts to draft a profile description and the idea for a separate publication.

Three fictional examples the guide compares two English teachers working on different tasks: exam preparation and workplace meetings. a third example looks at portrait photography. each includes source facts, a broad description, a more specific version, visible annotations and sample posts.

all examples are fictional teaching material. they are not client projects or services offered by Timofey.

© 2026 Timofey Chebaturkin

A worksheet you edit yourself eight fields help you collect facts, boundaries, a draft description and a publication idea. load a teaching example explicitly or start with your own episode. the page does not generate experience or send your notes to a server. copy the result, download a text file or print it.

open the full guide in Russian ↗

chebaturkin.com

© 2026 Timofey Chebaturkin

Explain your work

if you need help describing your work, send a page or draft. tell me who it is for and what people can ask you to help with.

write to me in telegram ↗

what I can help with ↗

More to read

you will find more articles, examples and working notes in my archive.

chebaturkin.com/en/archive/
if the website does not open with your vpn on, turn it off and open the link again.

© 2026 Timofey Chebaturkin

chebaturkin.com/en/archive/explain-your-work/

you can share this file intact, with the author and source preserved. for republication or adaptation, contact me.

t.me/chebaturkin